

single father	0-21 years	1,5	1,6	1,6	1,6	1,6	1,6	1,6	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,5
	0-5 years	1,5	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,6	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,6	1,5	1,5	1,5
	0-17 years	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,5	1,5
	0-21 years	1,3	1,3	1,3	1,3	1,3	1,3	1,3	1,4	1,3	1,3	1,3	1,4	1,4	1,4	1,4

family type: Classification by family type are based on data from the population register. Shortcomings in the statistics means that cohabitants without joint children are misclassified as single parents. This means that the number children/families with cohabiting parents are underestimated while the number of children/families with a single parent

family type: Classification by family type are based on data from the population register. Shortcomings in the statistics means that cohabitants without joint children are misclassified as single parents. This means that the number children/families with cohabiting parents are underestimated while the number of children/families with a single parent

family type: Classification by family type are based on data from the population register. Shortcomings in the statistics means that cohabitants without joint children are misclassified as single parents. This means that the number children/families with cohabiting parents are underestimated while the number of children/families with a single parent

Latest update: 20151001

Source: Statistics Sweden